

A Adapters preserve source role before normalization

No source is treated as intrinsically superior; each represents a distinct clinical workflow layer.